

Discover your Digital Library

Your West Vancouver Memorial Library card gives you access to ebooks, audiobooks, movies, music, and more! To get started, all you need is your Library card and PIN (usually the last 4 digits of your phone number). You must be a West Vancouver resident in order to access the Library's databases.

A few services also ask that you to create a simple account with email, password, and sometimes a name. Find more information about all these resources on our website:

Ebooks & e-audiobooks

The Library2Go collection has more than 55,000 titles to choose from in both ebook and e-audiobook formats. You can borrow 7 books or audiobooks at a time for 3 weeks, and can place up to 7 holds.

The app is called Libby by OverDrive.

Magazines & Newspapers

Choose from over 2000 great magazines to download from OverDrive. Titles include Newsweek, Oprah, Better Homes and Gardens, and many others. Borrow as many magazines as you like for 21 days and renew as much as you like since copies are unlimited. Magazine loans do not count towards your book/audiobook loan limit.

PressReader has daily newspapers from all over the world in hundreds of languages. You can sort and find by country, language, or name of newspaper. The newspapers have a rolling archive of between 5-90 days. Also includes magazines.

The app is called PressReader.

Music

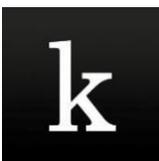

The Naxos Classical Music and Jazz Libraries allow you to stream great music all day long. Works best on a laptop or desktop computer.

This streaming music service allows you to listen to classical music, and create playlists of your favourite time periods, instruments, or composers

The apps are called NML, NML Jazz, and NML Word.

Video

Kanopy is a service that allows people to stream movies, documentaries, and TV shows, including the Criterion Collection.

The app is called Kanopy.

IndieFlix has a variety of classic video content, independent films, and documentaries that work well on all devices with an internet browser. It is available via RBdigital.

Videos from RBdigital will move to Libby by OverDrive sometime in 2021.

Online Learning
